

LOUISVILLE TIMES

LOUISVILLE, KY.
JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE, EDITOR

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS

FOR PRESIDENT,
JAMES BUCHANAN,
OF PENNSYLVANIA.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE,
OF KENTUCKY.

Electoral Ticket:
For the State at Large—HON. ELIJAH HISE, and COL. JOHN W. STENSON.
First District—COL. R. D. GHOLSON.
Second District—GEORGE W. WILLIAMS.
Third District—TIMOTHY CRAVENS.
Fourth District—BERNARD MAGOFFIN.
Fifth District—B. F. RICE.
Sixth District—W. D. REED.
Seventh District—W. WOOLLEY.
Eighth District—H. STANTON.
Ninth District—H. KELLEY.
Tenth District—H. KELLEY.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1856.

As announced some time since, Judge Hise, one of the most eloquent and effective speakers in the Union, is about to commence a tour through the State. It is recommended to have large barbecues at each of the points of speaking, and we earnestly hope that the suggestion will be carried out.

Speech of Joseph Holt.
We commence this morning, the publication of the great speech, recently made by Joseph Holt, at Frederick, Maryland. It is beyond all question the greatest effort of the canvass, and fully equal to the unrivaled reputation of the orator. We hope that every man into whose hands our paper may fall will carefully peruse it and ponder well upon its overwhelming logic.

Speaking in Henry County.
Thomas Holt, Esq., late of California, but now a resident of this city, will reply to J. M. Harlan (K. N. elector) at Newcastle, Henry county, on Monday. Mr. Holt is one of the most eloquent and effective speakers we ever heard, and we hope the Democrats of Henry will all go and hear Harlan and his party demolished.

Public Speaking.
Wm. D. Reed, Democratic elector, will speak at Franklin, Henry county, on Saturday.

It will be seen from our telegraphic dispatches that the old line Whigs of New York cannot stand on the Democratic platform. They seem to think there is "a nigger in the woodpile." The truth is, that most of the old line Whigs in the free State is a "bad egg," and we begin to doubt that their proper place is with Fillmore or Fremont—Louisville Times.

It is strange to some persons that the Mayville Eagle should wince under our paragraph, but the Eagle had a great tendency for Emancipation in 1850; and it has been for the last two years a "Know Nothing" paper under the guise of "Old Line Whig." It would not astonish us to hear the Eagle proclaim, in the language of Col. Marshall, "Fremont or the Devil, in preference to Buchanan."

Important Address to Buchanan.—In addition to the Hon. Rufus Choate, it is stated in the Washington Union, that Senator Ogier, of Missouri, has declared his intention to unite with the Democracy in support of Buchanan and Breckinridge. Mr. Ogier is a powerful and eloquent speaker. It is authorized that the National Intelligence, the time honored organ of Clay and Webster, and the old-line Whig party, will do the same thing.

It is said that in Berks county, Pennsylvania, that old Democratic stronghold, which has always been good for about four thousand Democratic majority, there is not a Fremont man to found in all its borders!

Among the private bills which became a law during the last hour of Congress, was one for the relief of John Doe, of this city, and one for the relief of John Davidson, of Kentucky.

It is stated by the Washington letter writer that there was much less excitement and confusion in the House than usual on the last night of a session.

Green Adams, the Kentucky member of Congress who voted for the Wilmot Proviso in 1846, was one of the head men at the meeting of the Know Nothing State Council in Lexington Wednesday.

Mr. Breckinridge's Tippecanoe.
LEXINGTON, KY., AUG. 18, 1856.
MY DEAR SIR: In answer to the note of the 7th inst., I have to say that no engagement shall prevent me from attending the great meeting at Tippecanoe on the 3d of September.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.
Lexington, Ky., Aug. 18, 1856.

HENRY MARSHALL AND FREMONT.—The London, Va., Democratic Mirror, speaking of a speech made by Henry Marshall, at Leesburg, recently, says:

"He was also very severe upon Mr. Buchanan, charged him with being the negativer negativer candidate of the North, and declared that he would leave to John C. Fremont, or the Devil himself, the Presidency as James Buchanan."

The following is from the special correspondence of the New York Herald, dated—
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.

The extra session was brought about by the efforts of Jeff. Davis, who declared he would not keep the army together without the appropriations. The other members of the Cabinet, it is understood, agreed in the opinion of nearly all the leading Democrats here, that the issue made by the abolitionists, particularly as it was demonstrated this morning that they were in the minority, and only succeeded by calling themselves and their party a "Know Nothing."

Since the issuance of the President's proclamation, calling an extra session of Congress, he has received not a few blessings from the Republican members, many of whom were met by him at the depot, when leaving for home.

Without doubt a quorum of both houses will be present on Thursday, and the Army bill will be passed before the close of the week.

Senators left this evening, notwithstanding the proclamation.

Under the new compensation bill they will not receive anything for the time they are detained.

New York, Aug. 18.—The Washington correspondent of the Evening Post gives the following version of the attack of Mr. McCullen on Mr. Granger:

As Mr. Granger, of New York, and Mr. McCullen, of Va., were riding in an omnibus to a convention, a crowd of the army bill protesters, Mr. McCullen, who declared he would stand by the constitution. Mr. Granger replied that it did not do a Republican President would make it—whereupon McCullen said he would not be addressed in that way by a Yankee man. Granger replied, "I waive my ace." McCullen then seized Granger around the neck, and holding him under the chin, struck him under the chin with the flat of his hand, drawing blood from the face.

During the past few days, says the Lexington Post, the people of this county have been

SPEECH OF JOSEPH HOLT,
OF KENTUCKY,
AT FREDERICK CITY, MARYLAND.
Mr. President—If, in some of the circumstances which surround us, there is found no compulsion to your principles, at least, of which you may well be proud, it is not to be regretted that the bright eye which sparkles in the midst of this assembly, when the turmoil of the political excitement, when it sought to rise against the South, and against the Union, into play, these fierce passions which have stained the annals of mankind with crime and filled their habitations with wailings, may we not hope that the fairer portion of our race will lift up their voices in behalf of peace? Women—for as the connecting link between earth and heaven—has been commissioned as a ministering angel to dispense the consolations of mercy, of humanity and of love, to the souls of the human race in this tempest-tossed world. But if woman herself becomes uncharitable, and joins the battle cry of persecution, if the melting tones of the nightingale are, to the melody of the hoarse crier of the virtue, and those gentle hands which were intended to lead us to paradise, shall seize the weapons of persecution and of war, then indeed, may we lay our heads in the dust, in humiliation and in despair.

The despots of the old world enjoy rest, save when at remote intervals, the pent-up rage of centuries erupts in the form of an ordinary insurrection. But from the depths of that tranquility are ever issuing sickening odors, as from an open sepulcher of human bones and human hearts. The stagnant pool which lies beneath its surface venenous reptiles do gender and batten, while the malarial pestilence and death, are exhaled from its waters. The miasma, it dashes forward and onward, gathering new momentum at every bound, and inspiring new joys with every accent of its maddening song. The miasma of its strength, without it, it loses, at once its freshness, its purity, its power, and above all, its rainbow of glory which glitters, as it is the emblem of immortality, as it is the path of life. Sir, that mountain torrent, is the true emblem of the life of a free people. Discussion, excitement, agitation—these are a part of the price you pay, and which you must pay for liberty. Hence this steady strife of party with party, which has so far prevailed throughout the Union, has for us but slight alarm, however much it may excite the fears of timid foreigners, it is the element of our strength, without it, it loses, at once its freshness, its purity, its power, and above all, its rainbow of glory which glitters, as it is the emblem of immortality, as it is the path of life.

Speaking in Henry County.
Thomas Holt, Esq., late of California, but now a resident of this city, will reply to J. M. Harlan (K. N. elector) at Newcastle, Henry county, on Monday. Mr. Holt is one of the most eloquent and effective speakers we ever heard, and we hope the Democrats of Henry will all go and hear Harlan and his party demolished.

Public Speaking.
Wm. D. Reed, Democratic elector, will speak at Franklin, Henry county, on Saturday.

It will be seen from our telegraphic dispatches that the old line Whigs of New York cannot stand on the Democratic platform. They seem to think there is "a nigger in the woodpile." The truth is, that most of the old line Whigs in the free State is a "bad egg," and we begin to doubt that their proper place is with Fillmore or Fremont—Louisville Times.

It is strange to some persons that the Mayville Eagle should wince under our paragraph, but the Eagle had a great tendency for Emancipation in 1850; and it has been for the last two years a "Know Nothing" paper under the guise of "Old Line Whig." It would not astonish us to hear the Eagle proclaim, in the language of Col. Marshall, "Fremont or the Devil, in preference to Buchanan."

Important Address to Buchanan.—In addition to the Hon. Rufus Choate, it is stated in the Washington Union, that Senator Ogier, of Missouri, has declared his intention to unite with the Democracy in support of Buchanan and Breckinridge. Mr. Ogier is a powerful and eloquent speaker. It is authorized that the National Intelligence, the time honored organ of Clay and Webster, and the old-line Whig party, will do the same thing.

It is said that in Berks county, Pennsylvania, that old Democratic stronghold, which has always been good for about four thousand Democratic majority, there is not a Fremont man to found in all its borders!

Among the private bills which became a law during the last hour of Congress, was one for the relief of John Doe, of this city, and one for the relief of John Davidson, of Kentucky.

It is stated by the Washington letter writer that there was much less excitement and confusion in the House than usual on the last night of a session.

Green Adams, the Kentucky member of Congress who voted for the Wilmot Proviso in 1846, was one of the head men at the meeting of the Know Nothing State Council in Lexington Wednesday.

Mr. Breckinridge's Tippecanoe.
LEXINGTON, KY., AUG. 18, 1856.
MY DEAR SIR: In answer to the note of the 7th inst., I have to say that no engagement shall prevent me from attending the great meeting at Tippecanoe on the 3d of September.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.
Lexington, Ky., Aug. 18, 1856.

HENRY MARSHALL AND FREMONT.—The London, Va., Democratic Mirror, speaking of a speech made by Henry Marshall, at Leesburg, recently, says:

"He was also very severe upon Mr. Buchanan, charged him with being the negativer negativer candidate of the North, and declared that he would leave to John C. Fremont, or the Devil himself, the Presidency as James Buchanan."

The following is from the special correspondence of the New York Herald, dated—
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.

The extra session was brought about by the efforts of Jeff. Davis, who declared he would not keep the army together without the appropriations. The other members of the Cabinet, it is understood, agreed in the opinion of nearly all the leading Democrats here, that the issue made by the abolitionists, particularly as it was demonstrated this morning that they were in the minority, and only succeeded by calling themselves and their party a "Know Nothing."

Since the issuance of the President's proclamation, calling an extra session of Congress, he has received not a few blessings from the Republican members, many of whom were met by him at the depot, when leaving for home.

Without doubt a quorum of both houses will be present on Thursday, and the Army bill will be passed before the close of the week.

Senators left this evening, notwithstanding the proclamation.

Under the new compensation bill they will not receive anything for the time they are detained.

New York, Aug. 18.—The Washington correspondent of the Evening Post gives the following version of the attack of Mr. McCullen on Mr. Granger:

As Mr. Granger, of New York, and Mr. McCullen, of Va., were riding in an omnibus to a convention, a crowd of the army bill protesters, Mr. McCullen, who declared he would stand by the constitution. Mr. Granger replied that it did not do a Republican President would make it—whereupon McCullen said he would not be addressed in that way by a Yankee man. Granger replied, "I waive my ace." McCullen then seized Granger around the neck, and holding him under the chin, struck him under the chin with the flat of his hand, drawing blood from the face.

During the past few days, says the Lexington Post, the people of this county have been

of the Union, and the Democratic ticket. Should, then, so many voices of wrath be poured out upon the heads of the poor foreigners, if they follow your example?

It is not to be regretted that the bright eye which sparkles in the midst of this assembly, when the turmoil of the political excitement, when it sought to rise against the South, and against the Union, into play, these fierce passions which have stained the annals of mankind with crime and filled their habitations with wailings, may we not hope that the fairer portion of our race will lift up their voices in behalf of peace? Women—for as the connecting link between earth and heaven—has been commissioned as a ministering angel to dispense the consolations of mercy, of humanity and of love, to the souls of the human race in this tempest-tossed world. But if woman herself becomes uncharitable, and joins the battle cry of persecution, if the melting tones of the nightingale are, to the melody of the hoarse crier of the virtue, and those gentle hands which were intended to lead us to paradise, shall seize the weapons of persecution and of war, then indeed, may we lay our heads in the dust, in humiliation and in despair.

The despots of the old world enjoy rest, save when at remote intervals, the pent-up rage of centuries erupts in the form of an ordinary insurrection. But from the depths of that tranquility are ever issuing sickening odors, as from an open sepulcher of human bones and human hearts. The stagnant pool which lies beneath its surface venenous reptiles do gender and batten, while the malarial pestilence and death, are exhaled from its waters. The miasma, it dashes forward and onward, gathering new momentum at every bound, and inspiring new joys with every accent of its maddening song. The miasma of its strength, without it, it loses, at once its freshness, its purity, its power, and above all, its rainbow of glory which glitters, as it is the emblem of immortality, as it is the path of life. Sir, that mountain torrent, is the true emblem of the life of a free people. Discussion, excitement, agitation—these are a part of the price you pay, and which you must pay for liberty. Hence this steady strife of party with party, which has so far prevailed throughout the Union, has for us but slight alarm, however much it may excite the fears of timid foreigners, it is the element of our strength, without it, it loses, at once its freshness, its purity, its power, and above all, its rainbow of glory which glitters, as it is the emblem of immortality, as it is the path of life.

Speaking in Henry County.
Thomas Holt, Esq., late of California, but now a resident of this city, will reply to J. M. Harlan (K. N. elector) at Newcastle, Henry county, on Monday. Mr. Holt is one of the most eloquent and effective speakers we ever heard, and we hope the Democrats of Henry will all go and hear Harlan and his party demolished.

Public Speaking.
Wm. D. Reed, Democratic elector, will speak at Franklin, Henry county, on Saturday.

It will be seen from our telegraphic dispatches that the old line Whigs of New York cannot stand on the Democratic platform. They seem to think there is "a nigger in the woodpile." The truth is, that most of the old line Whigs in the free State is a "bad egg," and we begin to doubt that their proper place is with Fillmore or Fremont—Louisville Times.

It is strange to some persons that the Mayville Eagle should wince under our paragraph, but the Eagle had a great tendency for Emancipation in 1850; and it has been for the last two years a "Know Nothing" paper under the guise of "Old Line Whig." It would not astonish us to hear the Eagle proclaim, in the language of Col. Marshall, "Fremont or the Devil, in preference to Buchanan."

Important Address to Buchanan.—In addition to the Hon. Rufus Choate, it is stated in the Washington Union, that Senator Ogier, of Missouri, has declared his intention to unite with the Democracy in support of Buchanan and Breckinridge. Mr. Ogier is a powerful and eloquent speaker. It is authorized that the National Intelligence, the time honored organ of Clay and Webster, and the old-line Whig party, will do the same thing.

It is said that in Berks county, Pennsylvania, that old Democratic stronghold, which has always been good for about four thousand Democratic majority, there is not a Fremont man to found in all its borders!

Among the private bills which became a law during the last hour of Congress, was one for the relief of John Doe, of this city, and one for the relief of John Davidson, of Kentucky.

It is stated by the Washington letter writer that there was much less excitement and confusion in the House than usual on the last night of a session.

Green Adams, the Kentucky member of Congress who voted for the Wilmot Proviso in 1846, was one of the head men at the meeting of the Know Nothing State Council in Lexington Wednesday.

Mr. Breckinridge's Tippecanoe.
LEXINGTON, KY., AUG. 18, 1856.
MY DEAR SIR: In answer to the note of the 7th inst., I have to say that no engagement shall prevent me from attending the great meeting at Tippecanoe on the 3d of September.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.
Lexington, Ky., Aug. 18, 1856.

HENRY MARSHALL AND FREMONT.—The London, Va., Democratic Mirror, speaking of a speech made by Henry Marshall, at Leesburg, recently, says:

"He was also very severe upon Mr. Buchanan, charged him with being the negativer negativer candidate of the North, and declared that he would leave to John C. Fremont, or the Devil himself, the Presidency as James Buchanan."

The following is from the special correspondence of the New York Herald, dated—
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.

The extra session was brought about by the efforts of Jeff. Davis, who declared he would not keep the army together without the appropriations. The other members of the Cabinet, it is understood, agreed in the opinion of nearly all the leading Democrats here, that the issue made by the abolitionists, particularly as it was demonstrated this morning that they were in the minority, and only succeeded by calling themselves and their party a "Know Nothing."

Since the issuance of the President's proclamation, calling an extra session of Congress, he has received not a few blessings from the Republican members, many of whom were met by him at the depot, when leaving for home.

Without doubt a quorum of both houses will be present on Thursday, and the Army bill will be passed before the close of the week.

Senators left this evening, notwithstanding the proclamation.

Under the new compensation bill they will not receive anything for the time they are detained.

New York, Aug. 18.—The Washington correspondent of the Evening Post gives the following version of the attack of Mr. McCullen on Mr. Granger:

As Mr. Granger, of New York, and Mr. McCullen, of Va., were riding in an omnibus to a convention, a crowd of the army bill protesters, Mr. McCullen, who declared he would stand by the constitution. Mr. Granger replied that it did not do a Republican President would make it—whereupon McCullen said he would not be addressed in that way by a Yankee man. Granger replied, "I waive my ace." McCullen then seized Granger around the neck, and holding him under the chin, struck him under the chin with the flat of his hand, drawing blood from the face.

During the past few days, says the Lexington Post, the people of this county have been of the Union, and the Democratic ticket. Should, then, so many voices of wrath be poured out upon the heads of the poor foreigners, if they follow your example?

It is not to be regretted that the bright eye which sparkles in the midst of this assembly, when the turmoil of the political excitement, when it sought to rise against the South, and against the Union, into play, these fierce passions which have stained the annals of mankind with crime and filled their habitations with wailings, may we not hope that the fairer portion of our race will lift up their voices in behalf of peace? Women—for as the connecting link between earth and heaven—has been commissioned as a ministering angel to dispense the consolations of mercy, of humanity and of love, to the souls of the human race in this tempest-tossed world. But if woman herself becomes uncharitable, and joins the battle cry of persecution, if the melting tones of the nightingale are, to the melody of the hoarse crier of the virtue, and those gentle hands which were intended to lead us to paradise, shall seize the weapons of persecution and of war, then indeed, may we lay our heads in the dust, in humiliation and in despair.

The despots of the old world enjoy rest, save when at remote intervals, the pent-up rage of centuries erupts in the form of an ordinary insurrection. But from the depths of that tranquility are ever issuing sickening odors, as from an open sepulcher of human bones and human hearts. The stagnant pool which lies beneath its surface venenous reptiles do gender and batten, while the malarial pestilence and death, are exhaled from its waters. The miasma, it dashes forward and onward, gathering new momentum at every bound, and inspiring new joys with every accent of its maddening song. The miasma of its strength, without it, it loses, at once its freshness, its purity, its power, and above all, its rainbow of glory which glitters, as it is the emblem of immortality, as it is the path of life. Sir, that mountain torrent, is the true emblem of the life of a free people. Discussion, excitement, agitation—these are a part of the price you pay, and which you must pay for liberty. Hence this steady strife of party with party, which has so far prevailed throughout the Union, has for us but slight alarm, however much it may excite the fears of timid foreigners, it is the element of our strength, without it, it loses, at once its freshness, its purity, its power, and above all, its rainbow of glory which glitters, as it is the emblem of immortality, as it is the path of life.

Speaking in Henry County.
Thomas Holt, Esq., late of California, but now a resident of this city, will reply to J. M. Harlan (K. N. elector) at Newcastle, Henry county, on Monday. Mr. Holt is one of the most eloquent and effective speakers we ever heard, and we hope the Democrats of Henry will all go and hear Harlan and his party demolished.

Public Speaking.
Wm. D. Reed, Democratic elector, will speak at Franklin, Henry county, on Saturday.

It will be seen from our telegraphic dispatches that the old line Whigs of New York cannot stand on the Democratic platform. They seem to think there is "a nigger in the woodpile." The truth is, that most of the old line Whigs in the free State is a "bad egg," and we begin to doubt that their proper place is with Fillmore or Fremont—Louisville Times.

It is strange to some persons that the Mayville Eagle should wince under our paragraph, but the Eagle had a great tendency for Emancipation in 1850; and it has been for the last two years a "Know Nothing" paper under the guise of "Old Line Whig." It would not astonish us to hear the Eagle proclaim, in the language of Col. Marshall, "Fremont or the Devil, in preference to Buchanan."

Important Address to Buchanan.—In addition to the Hon. Rufus Choate, it is stated in the Washington Union, that Senator Ogier, of Missouri, has declared his intention to unite with the Democracy in support of Buchanan and Breckinridge. Mr. Ogier is a powerful and eloquent speaker. It is authorized that the National Intelligence, the time honored organ of Clay and Webster, and the old-line Whig party, will do the same thing.

It is said that in Berks county, Pennsylvania, that old Democratic stronghold, which has always been good for about four thousand Democratic majority, there is not a Fremont man to found in all its borders!

Among the private bills which became a law during the last hour of Congress, was one for the relief of John Doe, of this city, and one for the relief of John Davidson, of Kentucky.

It is stated by the Washington letter writer that there was much less excitement and confusion in the House than usual on the last night of a session.

Green Adams, the Kentucky member of Congress who voted for the Wilmot Proviso in 1846, was one of the head men at the meeting of the Know Nothing State Council in Lexington Wednesday.

Mr. Breckinridge's Tippecanoe.
LEXINGTON, KY., AUG. 18, 1856.
MY DEAR SIR: In answer to the note of the 7th inst., I have to say that no engagement shall prevent me from attending the great meeting at Tippecanoe on the 3d of September.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.
Lexington, Ky., Aug. 18, 1856.

HENRY MARSHALL AND FREMONT.—The London, Va., Democratic Mirror, speaking of a speech made by Henry Marshall, at Leesburg, recently, says:

"He was also very severe upon Mr. Buchanan, charged him with being the negativer negativer candidate of the North, and declared that he would leave to John C. Fremont, or the Devil himself, the Presidency as James Buchanan."

The following is from the special correspondence of the New York Herald, dated—
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.

The extra session was brought about by the efforts of Jeff. Davis, who declared he would not keep the army together without the appropriations. The other members of the Cabinet, it is understood, agreed in the opinion of nearly all the leading Democrats here, that the issue made by the abolitionists, particularly as it was demonstrated this morning that they were in the minority, and only succeeded by calling themselves and their party a "Know Nothing."

Since the issuance of the President's proclamation, calling an extra session of Congress, he has received not a few blessings from the Republican members, many of whom were met by him at the depot, when leaving for home.

Without doubt a quorum of both houses will be present on Thursday, and the Army bill will be passed before the close of the week.

Senators left this evening, notwithstanding the proclamation.

Under the new compensation bill they will not receive anything for the time they are detained.

New York, Aug. 18.—The Washington correspondent of the Evening Post gives the following version of the attack of Mr. McCullen on Mr. Granger:

As Mr. Granger, of New York, and Mr. McCullen, of Va., were riding in an omnibus to a convention, a crowd of the army bill protesters, Mr. McCullen, who declared he would stand by the constitution. Mr. Granger replied that it did not do a Republican President would make it—whereupon McCullen said he would not be addressed in that way by a Yankee man. Granger replied, "I waive my ace." McCullen then seized Granger around the neck, and holding him under the chin, struck him under the chin with the flat of his hand, drawing blood from the face.

During the past few days, says the Lexington Post, the people of this county have been of the Union, and the Democratic ticket. Should, then, so many voices of wrath be poured out upon the heads of the poor foreigners, if they follow your example?

It is not to be regretted that the bright eye which sparkles in the midst of this assembly, when the turmoil of the political excitement, when it sought to rise against the South, and against the Union, into play, these fierce passions which have stained the annals of mankind with crime and filled their habitations with wailings, may we not hope that the fairer portion of our race will lift up their voices in behalf of peace? Women—for as the connecting link between earth and heaven—has been commissioned as a ministering angel to dispense the consolations of mercy, of humanity and of love, to the souls of the human race in this tempest-tossed world. But if woman herself becomes uncharitable, and joins the battle cry of persecution, if the melting tones of the nightingale are, to the melody of the hoarse crier of the virtue, and those gentle hands which were intended to lead us to paradise, shall seize the weapons of persecution and of war, then indeed, may we lay our heads in the dust, in humiliation and in despair.

The despots of the old world enjoy rest, save when at remote intervals, the pent-up rage of centuries erupts in the form of an ordinary insurrection. But from the depths of that tranquility are ever issuing sickening odors, as from an open sepulcher of human bones and human hearts. The stagnant pool which lies beneath its surface venenous reptiles do gender and batten, while the malarial pestilence and death, are exhaled from its waters. The miasma, it dashes forward and onward, gathering new momentum at every bound, and inspiring new joys with every accent of its maddening song. The miasma of its strength, without it, it loses, at once its freshness, its purity, its power, and above all, its rainbow of glory which glitters, as it is the emblem of immortality, as it is the path of life. Sir, that mountain torrent, is the true emblem of the life of a free people. Discussion, excitement, agitation—these are a part of the price you pay, and which you must pay for liberty. Hence this steady strife of party with party, which has so far prevailed throughout the Union, has for us but slight alarm, however much it may excite the fears of timid foreigners, it is the element of our strength, without it, it loses, at once its freshness, its purity, its power, and above all, its rainbow of glory which glitters, as it is the emblem of immortality, as it is the path of life.

Speaking in Henry County.
Thomas Holt, Esq., late of California, but now a resident of this city, will reply to J. M. Harlan (K. N. elector) at Newcastle, Henry county, on Monday. Mr. Holt is one of the most eloquent and effective speakers we ever heard, and we hope the Democrats of Henry will all go and hear Harlan and his party demolished.

Public Speaking.
Wm. D. Reed, Democratic elector, will speak at Franklin, Henry county, on Saturday.

It will be seen from our telegraphic dispatches that the old line Whigs of New York cannot stand on the Democratic platform. They seem to think there is "a nigger in the woodpile." The truth is, that most of the old line Whigs in the free State is a "bad egg," and we begin to doubt that their proper place is with Fillmore or Fremont—Louisville Times.

It is strange to some persons that the Mayville Eagle should wince under our paragraph, but the Eagle had a great tendency for Emancipation in 1850; and it has been for the last two years a "Know Nothing" paper under the guise of "Old Line Whig." It would not astonish us to hear the Eagle proclaim, in the language of Col. Marshall, "Fremont or the Devil, in preference to Buchanan."

Important Address to Buchanan.—In addition to the Hon. Rufus Choate, it is stated in the Washington Union, that Senator Ogier, of Missouri, has declared his intention to unite with the Democracy in support of Buchanan and Breckinridge. Mr. Ogier is a powerful and eloquent speaker. It is authorized that the National Intelligence, the time honored organ of Clay and Webster, and the old-line Whig party, will do the same thing.

It is said that in Berks county, Pennsylvania, that old Democratic stronghold, which has always been good for about four thousand Democratic majority, there is not a Fremont man to found in all its borders!

Among the private bills which became a law during the last hour of Congress, was one for the relief of John Doe, of this city, and one for the relief of John Davidson, of Kentucky.

It is stated by the Washington letter writer that there was much less excitement and confusion in the House than usual on the last night of a session.

Green Adams, the Kentucky member of Congress who voted for the Wilmot Proviso in 1846, was one of the head men at the meeting of the Know Nothing State Council in Lexington Wednesday.

Mr. Breckinridge's Tippecanoe.
LEXINGTON, KY., AUG. 18, 1856.
MY DEAR SIR: In answer to the note of the 7th inst., I have to say that no engagement shall prevent me from attending the great meeting at Tippecanoe on the 3d of September.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.
Lexington, Ky., Aug. 18, 1856.

HENRY MARSHALL AND FREMONT.—The London, Va., Democratic Mirror, speaking of a speech made by Henry Marshall, at Leesburg, recently, says:

"He was also very severe upon Mr. Buchanan, charged him with being the negativer negativer candidate of the North, and declared that he would leave to John C. Fremont, or the Devil himself, the Presidency as James Buchanan."

The following is from the special correspondence of the New York Herald, dated—
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.

The extra session was brought about by the efforts of Jeff. Davis, who declared he would not keep the army together without the appropriations. The other members of the Cabinet, it is understood, agreed in the opinion of nearly all the leading Democrats here, that the issue made by the abolitionists, particularly as it was demonstrated this morning that they were in the minority, and only succeeded by calling themselves and their party a "Know Nothing."

Since the issuance of the President's proclamation, calling an extra session of Congress, he has received not a few blessings from the Republican members, many of whom were met by him at the depot, when leaving for home.

Without doubt a quorum of both houses will be present on Thursday, and the Army bill will be passed before the close of the week.

Senators left this evening, notwithstanding the proclamation.

Main st. bet. Third and Fourth